Job Description:

A Heritage Interpreter at Glenaladale Estate plays a key role in bringing the site's rich history, P.E.I.'s Scottish cultural traditions, natural environment and agricultural legacy to life for visitors of all ages. Their responsibilities include delivering engaging, accurate, and accessible tours throughout the historic mansion, and schoolhouse, while supporting the capacities of visitors to use the resources for self-guided sculpture forest and trail tours. Interpreters research and communicate key stories connected to the diverse Glenaladale history, social and cultural heritage, and ongoing restoration efforts, ensuring all information reflects current research and inclusive interpretive practices. They prepare and present demonstration programs that deepen visitor understanding and support hands-on learning. Historical Interpreters also assist with event support, digitization projects, and the care of museum artifacts and interpretive materials. By welcoming visitors, answering questions, and gathering feedback, they help foster an inviting, educational, and memorable experience that strengthens public connection to Glenaladale's heritage.

We aim to also include opportunities for our historical interpreters to engage with our Scottish Cultural Centre's Collection. Learning how to catalogue incoming donations, digitize records, and research material for our database in accordance with our collections' policies and procedures. An opportunity to focus on personal academic topics of interest in relation to Glenaladale's history, while having support from staff/board members in their exploration of an area we can enrich our programming and tours.

Ideal Candidate Qualifications & Interests:

In addition to being a detail-oriented, self motivated individual who enjoys working on a team, candidates should possess the following qualifications:

- Graduated High school and pursuing studies in areas of History & Museums, Arts, Tourism, Anthropology, and/or Education.
- A keen interest and developing knowledge base in local/regional history and ability to connect historical narratives to contemporary themes or relevance.
- Experience or interest in growing skills in Public Speaking, Storytelling, Customer Service, and Historical Research
- A valid Drivers License or reliable transportation
- Capacity to support multilingual visitors and work with accessibility adaptations

Key Responsibilities:

- Prepare the site for daily visitors and assist with opening and closing duties
- Deliver engaging guided tours to visitors of all ages
- Answer questions about the site, facilities, and programming
- Assist with collections, research, digitization, and social media during non-tour times
- Maintain clean and organized public and staff spaces
- Record visitor feedback and report issues to supervisors

Training & Supervision

- Paid on-site orientation and safety training provided
- Ongoing supervision and mentorship from experienced staff & Executive Board
- Opportunities to build skills in public speaking, research, and collections management activities
